How little dependence can be placed on an documentary evidence which might be offernal whose extradition might be sought, our correspondent "A Word in Sesson" showed pretty conclusively in our issue of Friday last. The manuer in which evidence is taken, it altogether from acceptance in a British Court of Justice. According to our Canton contemporary, two prisoners who had been sent | Malacca by Mr. Copley measured 14 ft. 1 in: to the Namboi Magistrate from Fatshan for trial on appearing before him denied the charge to which they had pleaded guilty in the first instance before the subordinate mandarin at Fatshan, and when questioned as their re confession had been exterted by torture-Doubtless this is true, and it is a typical case The mandarine defend the use of torture on the ground that prisoners would never speak the subscription to the Comptoir National has has shown a most friendly spirit throughout the moon Lady Des Voeux had a reception, both of the truth without it; but it is also freely NORTHERN& \ Hall & Holts Co-operative Co. employed to compel a confession of guilt from innocent persons. The administration of the law is so entirely corrupt in China, that substantial justice is rarely done, and the longest purse almost invariably wins, unless the case—to be above a bribe and anxious for fair play. While, bowever, it is impossible > to regard evidence taken in Chinese Courts as of the slightest value, it is most undesirable that this Colony should continue to be a refuge for Chinese criminals. We cannot to decide which persons are criminals and which political offenders, though there are few of the latter in China who are not also pirates by practice. What this Government can do been a reputable resident in this Colony, and Extradition in the ordinary sense of the term, on the terms carried out with civilized Powers, should not be thought of with China, whose code is thoroughly barbarous. whose punishments are revolting and brutal and whose administration is flagrantly corrupt. At the same time, in self defence, and also as a matter of justice to the people of Kwangiung, we ought not to refuse to deliver up refugees who are either known be bad characters or against whom there is strong presumptive swidence to that effect.

ENGLISH readers in the Far East have late years chiefly relied upon American pir ated editions for their supply of current literature. All the latest works are available for cents and they not infrequently arrive advance of the more expensive copyright editions published in England. Weshould not like to hazard a guess as to how many copies. of the pirated edition of "Robert Elsmere! have been sold in this Colony, but we would be surprised to learn that a dozen copies of the English edition had been sold. With regard to Mr. RIDER HAGGARD's popular works, the sale of the pirated editions has been enormous; that of the English editions practically nil. The loss to English authors by this infringement of their copyright is by no means inconsiderable. Not only is there a large reading population in the colony itneif, but there is a very large stream of passengers constantly passing through who lay in a stock of reading here sufficient to last them until they reach another port. From the correspondence reproduced in another. column it will be seen that the subject has attracted attention in connection with Singapore, and that steps have been taken there to put a stop to the sale of pirated editions. It is singular that the Copyright Association when they took the matter up did not include detachments from the Russian flag-ship Admir Hongkong in their memorial, for we should imagine that the sale of American editions in this colony is considerably larger than at Singapore. We believe, however, that correspondence has taken place on the subject between the Colonial Office and the Government here, and that steps similar to those taken at Singapore will shortly be adopted bere. In a free port it is not so easy to stop without any fear whatever of producing irrita. the introduction of prohibited articles, whether books or otherwise, as in a place where there is a Customs service, but their open sale may be prevented, and the profits are administration of a large slice of Kwangtung, too small to encourage a clandestine trade. They dealt in them only ing remarkable quotation, attributed by the on account of competition." The feelings author to Byron:of the booksellers in Hongkong will probably be the same, and no difficulty, we think, will be experienced in enforcing the pro- foreign tongue and re-translation back of the visions of the Copyright Act when that course is decided on. Occasional copies of the pirated editions will of course continue to find their way into the colony, some possibly Ask for Special Bill giving full particulars through the post, unless the postal authorities be authorised to confiscate them, while others will be brought in by passengers from Shanghai and Japan. "Hongkong: Its Inadequacy for Actual and Future Requirements," is the title of a very small pamphlet just forwarded to us by Messrs. Kelly & Walsh, Limited. Carolus de Jesmont is the, presumably assumed, name of the author, and he proceeds to set forth, in nine small pages his opinion that the settlement of this island was a great mistake, and that the seizure and to the end that a lesson might have been taught he Chinese Government by showing them what a progressive Power could do on their borders, would have been a nobler policy for the British Government to have adopted after the war with Thina. The pamphlet is written in a somewhat inflated style, and by the peculiar choice of a son. terms used is obviously the production of a loreigner. Perhaps this accounts for the follow-

DR. HARTIGAN TO COLONIAL SECRETARY. To the Hon. F. Stewart, LL.D., Colonial Set Sir,-In reply to your letter of this date I beg leave to state that the following are my reasons for asserting that the present state of the Poktolum water-supply constitutes a public danger.

Persons supplied with this water can follow either of three courses—latly, they can use it as distributed; 2ndly, endeavour to improve it 3rdly, seek water elsewhere. The use of muddy water for drinking or cooking purposes is one of the recognised causes of diarrhos, to which those following the first course therefore unnecessarily expose themselves. The second course, if properly carried out, is safe; but in all cases it entails much trouble, in many is impossible all processes for clarification and filtration requiring intelligent supervision, a certain amount of storage roo , mechanical appliances, simple it is true, yet seldem to be found in poor households

Pherefore this course will in all probability

The plan most likely to find favour is the third

The increase ed use of water during the hot weather (neget situting a large and wholesome supply), the prevalence of bowel-complaints at this season, our recent experiences of cholers in this Colony, its presence now in Manila, and the peculiar and pecial importance which is attached to diarrhood where there is danger of cholers infection, warrant me. I think, in calling anything which may give rise to such maladies "a public danger." In answer to the last paragraph of your letter.

Some of the recognised characters of good drinking water are "that it be colourless, transparent, contain no sediment visible to the naked eye, &c., &c." Inspection alone sufficiently demonstrated that Pokfolum water does not come up to this standard. Further examination was therefore unnecess

THE NEW EXTRADITION ORDINANCE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "DAILY PRESS." Sin,-Will you permit me to call attention through your columns to a valuable letter upon the above subject in the China Mail of the 22nd instant signed "Hongkong." It is long, but well worth reading, and shows clearly the great the recent examinations for Hanlin. The first dangers to which this new Ordinance will expose the Chinese in this colony, and the injury which will thereby be inflicted upon all who are interested in its property and trade. And for what reason are these retrogressive measures ching prefecture for repairs to a well kn wn of North China, this grand emperium, Shangto be taken? We are at present going on very well. The state of the colony in reference to crime is improving. Our relations with the Government of the adjoining provinces are cordial, and we may be well assured that the Home authorities would never desire to force this Ordinance upon the Colony did they really understand the grave issues which are in-There have always been some, let us hope a lessening number, among the Chinese ed to apprehend the man and to deal with him officials, by whom Hongkong has been regarded with jealousy. No steps which we can take will entirely remove this feeling, which has its origin and foundation in the fact that we all over. are here, and that two hundred thousand of the Chineso are also here under the protection of our government: Nothing less than the abandonment of the Island would satisfy these men, and they are shrewd enough to discern that all our efforts to go out of our way to oblige them are simply evidence of the weakness and timidity natural to the wealthy who have much at stake, plac lottery shops. and who have for so long devoted themselves to the occupations of peace rather than to the art of war.

what is the good of pretending that we treat her upon equal terms with European Governments? This new Rendition Ordinance is another of the many illustrations of the impossibility of making English law entirely applicable to Chinese. It is no new thing. The same effort to solve this ren dition difficulty has been made over and over again, and it always comes back to the same point. viz; "We cannot trust you." The truth may be spoken in love, and sometimes must be, or duty is neglected by those who having the power and anthority to speak. keep silence for their own ease or convenience Would not the British Government be more than justified in telling China that she cannot yet be trusted with the lives and liberties of Hongkong residents? Whilst the few bright exceptions simply prove the rule of almost universal official corruption; whilst truth in the administration of the law in China is anknown, and barbarous cruelties and torture are constantly practised, it is impossible that evidence so obtained should be received in English Courts, or that the lives and liberties of those who have sought refuge in Hongkong should be bartered for documents of less value than the paper upon which they are written The treaty is clear and plain that a Chinese oriminal is to be rendited "winon proof of his guilt." Let our Courts still be judges of that "proof." Why should a law be passed disfrauchising our judges, com-pelling them to hand over a man to torture and to death even against their convictions of his inaccence, or to leave this terrible duty to the Governor? Sir. Wm. Des Voux has in reference to other matters expressed himself as nawilling that a final appeal should rest with himself where the courts might fairly intervene His Excellency would surely not desire to be invested with the awful responsibility of delivering men to death upon documentary evidence to which not one person in the colony would attach the slightest oredence. It is a conspicuous occasion, and we welcome it with prefound congratulation and joy for the eventual good which it cannot fail to do to Shanghai. It was, abuses prevalent in his district, such as extertion I believe, in 1880 that the residents of Shanghai offered to tax themselves for the purpose of having the Bar dredged. This generous offer finally roused the Foreign Ministers and the riage ceremonies. The gentry are asked to Taung-li Yamen, and the Anding was bought Many years elapsed and many meetings were held; until finally the work is being undertaken by our genial host, Kung Taotai to whom his name will be ever associated with this great work. I am pleased to be the representative of you all in congratulating the Taotai, and thanking him for the good oheer which we have so heartily enjoyed; and I express the sentiments of us all, Mr. Kung, when I hope that when you leave your present office, it will be to fill a higher post, and fulfil its duties as well. China has shown before now that she is not afraid to speak to her enemies: her gates, and she is now preparing to admit her friends freely at her gates. Very much of this is due to the energy and ability of Sir Robert Hart, the presiding genius of the Customs service. NOW ON SALE IMPERIAL QUARTO. PAGLISH AND CHINESE DICTIONARY. WITH THE PUNTI AND MANDARIN PRONUNCIATION.

An Anglo-Chinese Dictionary, published at Daily Press Office, Hongkong. For comprehensiveness and practical service this Work stands unrivalled. All the new words which the Chinese have of late years been compelled to coin to express the numerous objects in machinery, photography, telegraphy, and in science generally, which the rapid advance of foreign relations has imposed upon them, are here given in extenso. Each and every word is fully, illustrated and explained, forming exercises for students of a most instructive nature. Both the Court and Punti pronunciations are given the accents being carefully marked on the best principle hitherto attained. The typography displays the success of an attempt to make the Chinese and English type correspond in the size of body, thereby effecting a vast economy of attained, and dispensing with those vast margins and vacant spaces which have heretofore characterized Chinese publications.

To illustrate the vast scope of the work the following facts are submitted for consideration:-Chalmers' Vocabulary contains about 16,000 Chinese characters and Medhurst's English and. Chinese Dictionary about 100,000, whilst this work contains more than 50,000 English words, and upwards of 600,000 Chinese characters. Again, despite all the grammars and other elementary works as yet published, the student of this difficult language absolutely requires examples to display the various applications and equivalents of different words which have one general meaning. Of these examples this work contains more than five times as many as any other Dictionary hitherto pub-For practical purposes the arrangement of the work is so complete, that a reference to its pages enables a person who understands English to communicate effectively with matives who understand nothing but Chinese. In this respect the work will be found indispensable to all Europeans residing in China, and to the natives themselves it explains subjects fully with which very few indeed of them are perfectly acquainted. To parties resident in England and interested

China it cannot but be invaluable occasion-It comprises upwards of two thousand large enarto nages. 4 Vols. INPERIAL QUARTO, Price, $20. A Large REDUCTION in PRICE is made
